TWO JAPANESE WARSHIPS SUNK

CHINESE AIR RAID SUCCEEDS

Ten Other War Vessels Reported Damaged

Hankow, June 25.

At least two Japanese warships were sunk and about 10 others suffered damage yesterday when a strong force of Chinese planes raided Japanese vessels in the Yangtse River at Tungliu, about 40 kilometres south of Anking, according to the Military Aviation Headquarters.

Four raids were staged on the enemy warships during the day. In the first raid tons of explosives were dumped, drawing heavy fire from a concentration of some 10 vessels.

In the second raid a large-size warship was sunk by a direct hit, whilst four smaller ones anchored nearby were damaged.

In the third raid another warship was seen to sink.

The extent of damage done in the fourth raid could not be ascertained by the Chinese airmen, as immediately after they dropped their bombs Japanese pursuit planes took to the air to engage them. All Chinese planes returned to their base safely.—Central News.

ASSASSINS ABROAD IN S'HAI

Two Attempts At Murder Fail

Shanghai, June 24.

Police of the International Settlement were kept busy yesterday afternoon with two daring attempted political assassinations.

In the first case two gunmen armed with Mausers entered the offices of Mr. Wu Zang-yeo, a well-known Shanghai Chinese, and said to be one of the founders of the Kuomintang together with Dr. Sun Yat-sen and Mr. Wang Ching-wei.

Finding Wu was not in the building, the gunmen opened fire, wounding two of his partners.

The second attempt took place at 11 p.m., when four gunmen entered a room in a Chinese hotel in Nanking Road and wounded the four inmates.

In both cases the gunmen escaped, despite the fact that the streets were crowded.—Reuter.

INSURGENTS DRIVE ON

Varela's Infantry Takes Sarracon

Saragossa, June 24.

The Insurgent offensive on both sides of the Sagunto-Teruel highway made further progress yesterday.

After the Loyalist positions had been heavily bombarded by Insurgent artillery the Caillian infantry brigade under General Varela attacked and succeeded in capturing the village of Sarracon, despite stubborn resistance.

There has been increased activity on the front between Santeron Mora de Rubiols Linares and Lucena del Cid.—Trans-Ocean.

JAPANESE AIRMEN ACTIVE

Strategic Chinese Points Raided

Hankow, June 24.

A number of Japanese aeroplanes this morning made a concentrated attack on the Madang forts, on the Yellow River near Kiukiang. According to reports received in Hankow no material damage was done.

It is added that the boom across the Yangtse and the fortifications on the banks of the river are still intact, despite the fact that the Madang forts have been under incessant fire from Japanese warships, 30 of which are stationed at Tungliu and another 30 between Tungliu and Madang.

Relative calm prevails on the front between Hotel and Liuan.—Trans-Ocean.

ARMED BOMBED

Shanghai, June 24.

A mass air raid was launched on the Chinese Government explosives factory near Foochow to-day, according to a Japanese naval report.

In addition, the Chinese Naval Arsenal at Niumei Island, five miles from Foochow, was severely bombed.

The railway station at Swatow was the subject of another attack, Japanese bombers causing considerable damage to the terminus.

TROOPS BOMBED

Shanghai, June 24.

The Japanese Naval Air Force again displayed the greatest activity along the Yangtse to-day, when troop concentrations on both banks of the river between Anking and Kiukiang were subjected to violent bombing attacks.

A Japanese report states that several Chinese mine-layers and junks operating in the sector of the Yangtse were forced to run ashore near Kiukiang.—Trans-Ocean.

Dwyer Going "HOME"

Leaving Aboard Rajputana

Able Seaman Edwin Dwyer, who was yesterday acquitted of a charge of murder arising out of the shooting of Leading Seaman Robert Dickinson, is going "home" to-day.

The naval authorities made this brief announcement this morning. No explanation was given.

Yesterday afternoon, when the foreman of the jury announced that they had found Dwyer not guilty, there was a demonstration in the court. A number of seamen applauded.

No Privileges For Foreigners, Japan States

Shanghai, June 24.

In view of the new incident involving a foreigner the Japanese authorities emphatically declare that foreigners enjoy no privileges in China and are subject to the same regulations as Chinese.

No special extraterritorial rights could be conceded to foreigners in territory occupied by the Japanese.

The incident which led to the controversy between the American and Japanese authorities was prompted by an alleged assault on an American doctor in Nanking by a Japanese sentry who, however, denied the charge.

The Japanese authorities declare that the country was perfectly entitled to control foreigners under the present circumstances.

RUSSIANS EXERCISE DEFENCES

Chief Cities To Test Organisation

Moscow, June 24.

Intensive air and chemical drill, involving the entire civilian population, will be carried out at seven strategic cities in Soviet Russia between July 1 and October 1.

The cities involved are Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev, Minsk, Baku, Vladivostok and Khabarovsk.

With the exception of Moscow, all of these cities are in the Soviet's border zone and the decision to hold the drills has been taken by the Central Council of the Civilian Air and Chemical Defence organisation.

Self-defence committees will be organised in every office, house and factory, and the work, which will be based on experience gained in the wars in Spain and China, will include mock air raids, fire-fighting, first aid, and gas mask drills.—Reuter.

QUEZON GOING ON TOUR

Manila, June 25.

It is announced that Mr. Manuel Quezon, President of the Philippines, is sailing by the Japanese battleship Kongo Maru this morning for Kobe for a fortnight's rest.

Two military aides will accompany the President on his trip, which, it is emphasised, is purely unofficial. Mr. Quezon may visit Shanghai and Hongkong on the return voyage.

WARFARE IN SHANTUNG—Chinese soldiers shown in a trench somewhere along the south bank of the Yellow River, in Shantung province. This is the locality where Chinese and Japanese have struggled for weeks and where guerrilla warfare is expected to develop further. The Chinese have been operating here with much success. JAPANESE CHECKED AT JILIM

Despite Destruction Of Coast Positions

After the arrival of reinforcements from the mainland the Chinese defenders in Jilim, on the coast opposite Namao, close to Swatow, have halted the advance of the Japanese units which succeeded in landing last Thursday, says the Wah Kin Yat Po.

Strong defence works and troop concentrations at Wangkong and Sunsun, points to the north of Jilim, are being rushed as preliminary measures against a further Japanese advance.

It is revealed that the local Chinese defence forces made four bayonet charges against the Japanese blue-jackets before their withdrawal under a heavy barrage from the Japanese warships. This bombardment completely destroyed the Chinese positions on the coast.

JAPANESE LAND NEAR MATANG

Tunglu, Anhwei, June 25.

Over 1,000 Japanese troops landed at Sungkow, on the south bank of the Yangtze River, about 20 kilometres below Matang yesterday.

The Japanese landed under a naval barrage from their warships anchored in the Yangtze. The Chinese put up a stiff resistance, slaying about 200 of the enemy. Other Japanese who attempted to land were prevented from approaching the bank by intensive Chinese fire.

Fighting continued at Sungkow late last night. As the place is hemmed in by the Chih Lake in the north and the Tapi Lake in the south, it is believed that the Japanese there can be "mopped up."—Central News.

Deprive Jews Of All Means Of Earning

Despite Destruction Of Coast Positions

Vienna, June 24.

Jews will no longer be allowed to enter Vienna's parks.

This decision has been reached "in order to spare the population of a constant source of provocation." But there is something worse in store. All owners of factories, including Jewish employers, must dismiss non-Aryan employees by July 1, according to a new decree issued to-day.

As a result of the new measure, coupled with previous anti-Jewish measures, practically every Jew in Vienna will be without visible means of support by the end of next week.—Reuter.

SHANGHAI TRADE DESTROYED

War Responsible For Great Slump

Shanghai, June 24.

A vivid reminder of the war's devastating effect on Shanghai's trade is provided in statistics released to-day by the Chinese Customs.

These statistics show that imports during the month of May totalled $18,297,000 compared with $85,390,000 in the corresponding month last year. Exports in May this year were $11,055,000, compared with $57,715,000 in May, 1937.—Reuter Special.

Grand Canal Threatens To Over-Run Banks

Shanghai, June 24.

Breaking its banks in the vicinity of Taihu, the Yangtse River has inundated a large area between Anking, capital of Anhwei, and Kiukiang, where the Chinese have a strong boom across the river.

The floods, as in the Yellow River areas, have compelled the Japanese completely to interrupt their military activities.

Floods are also reported at Hukow, between Kiukiang and Hankow, and also at Wuhu.

Japanese military authorities deny that they have received any information of large-scale inundations in the Yangtse valley and, according to latest reports, their military operations are still progressing favourably.—Trans-Ocean.

GRAND CANAL MENACE

Unless the torrential rain now pouring on the Nanking-Hangchow-Shanghai area ceases within 48 hours, a terrible Grand Canal flood will be unavoidable, says a Shanghai dispatch in the Lit Pao.

Meanwhile, water in the Canal continues to rise at a rate unprecedented in the past twenty years. A number of low-lying villages along the Canal, it is reported, have already been inundated.

Outfit for Miss Junior and she can make most of it herself

CHILDREN'S clothes are so easy to make that I suppose there are very few mothers who don't at least supplement their ready-made purchases with a few garments they themselves have made. And the quantity of fabric needed is relatively so small that the cost is low.

Many girls, too, from the age of 12 like to tackle some dress-making for themselves. They have outgrown the days when dressing of dolls interests and amuses them, and want to try something a bit more profitable. This is a good instinct to encourage, for it is practical work that will be of use to them later on. It develops their dress sense and their feeling for colours and fabrics. So to-day I've chosen a pattern which mother and young daughter can work on together.

The pattern which Angrave has illustrated here, provides a most varied outfit for the girl aged from 8 to 15 years. Let's see what sort of ensemble we can make from it.

first a skirt

First of all a skirt, a simple straightforward one with an inverted box pleat at the centre front, a seam at each side and a plain, slightly flared back. It fastens at the left side, with a zipper or with press studs; and the waistline is neaten into a band of self-fabric.

Make one of flannel and another of white or natural or pastel-coloured linen tweed. You will need from $\frac{3}{4}$ yard to $1\frac{3}{4}$ yards of 54-inch woollen; or from $1\frac{1}{2}$ to $1\frac{1}{2}$ yards of 36-inch fabric.

then a blouse

You'll need a pretty blouse to wear with the skirt; something light and dainty but not frilly-frilly and babyish. The one shown in the drawing would look delightful made up in one of those lovely Tyrolean cottons that can be had in multi-colours or in one colour and white.

There is not a lot of making to this blouse so your daughter will probably be able to cut it out and complete it by herself—though she should tack the sleeves in and let you give the O.K. before she stitches them.

For the blouse you will need from 1 yard to $1\frac{1}{2}$ yards of 36-inch fabric. You could make another blouse for colder days in a novelty light-weight jersey fabric.

this jacket makes a suit

Now for a jacket which can be worn over the flannel or linen skirt. You see one drawn on the second figure—it is included in the same pattern. A neat Peter Pan collar, short sleeves tucked to square up the fullness, buttons all down the front.

You could make it of the same linen as the skirt and so have a complete suit; or of plain wool jersey in a colour that would be a good contrast to either the flannel or linen skirt. If you find any difficulty in getting well matched buttons, use big moulds and have them covered with self fabric.

If you make the jacket from the same material as the skirt you will need from $2\frac{1}{2}$ to $3\frac{1}{2}$ yards of 36-inch fabric for both garments.

and two other dresses

You can from the same design make yet two other styles of dress. They are shown in the small line drawings. For the first one, the square-necked style, I suggest you use a plain coloured loosely woven canvas type of cotton or linen for skirt and top. For the fringe trimming you pull out the cross-wise threads at sleeve and lower hem edges and knot them into tassels. There are full instructions for doing this.

Then make another dress with the Viennese style bodice-blouse—puffed short sleeves and a little basque that kicks out most attractively from the waistline. Trim it with contrasting braid.

Now girls, get down to it and you'll soon have a row of lovely frocks hanging in your wardrobe.

COOKING CUES

NEW bread can be easily cut if the tine from curdling even if it boils blade of the knife is plunged in—and also makes the eggs "go to boiling water before cutting each further."

Somolina makes a first-rate substitute for stale bread in bread sauce. Stir a heaped tablespoonful into two cups of boiling milk, add onion and the usual seasoning, and cook gently till thick and creamy. It makes a perfectly smooth sauce and a most nourishing one.

When scones or pancakes have been left over, put in a pudding bowl, cover with buttered paper, and steam for about 15 minutes; then cool on a wire tray, and they will feel and taste likely newly baked.

To cook kippers perfectly, place in an earthenware pan, cover with boiling water and a plate, and leave for five or ten minutes. They will be found plumper and more substantial than when fried or grilled.

To roll a sponge successfully, turn it on a cloth which has just been wrung out of boiling water. This softens the sponge, making it roll easily and remove all skin and sprinkle the pastry board thickly with flour.

When making an egg custard, add a small quantity of sieved cornflour till quite flat, when it will break up—about one dessertspoonful to a pint readily into small pieces.

VILLAGERS PRAY FOR RAIN—PAY FOR WATER

Longest Spring Drought For 150 Years

London, April 25.

Prayers for rain were said in many churches throughout the country yesterday—twenty-second day of the third long spell of drought this spring.

This drought, following that of last month and a long spell in February, makes this spring the driest for 150 years.

Villagers in many districts are carting water supplies from wells miles from their homes and householders are paying a half-penny a bucket for it.

Overcast skies gave promise of break yesterday, but with a few exceptions the expected showers did not come.

Although short spells of rain from the North-West may pass across Scotland and Northern England in the next few days, there seems little prospect of a general downpour in England and Wales.

FARMLAND'S PLIGHT

Much cloud at times, occasional slight local showers, some sunny intervals with average temperature seems to be the general outlook for Southern and Western Britain until mid-week.

Farmland is suffering severely. Typical of many is the experience of Farlingdon (Berks) nurseryman. He planted 50,000 trees a few weeks ago. All are now dead.

Some villages in Wiltshire have been without water for weeks, some are on limited supply, and in certain areas water is being delivered in milk churns.

WHOSE BABY? BLOOD TESTS CONCLUSIVE

DR. ROCHE LYNCH, senior Home Office analyst, went into the witness-box at Marlborough (Wiltshire) recently and proved by blood tests that a man accused by a girl was not the father of her child.

It was the first case of its kind in this country in which paternity has been definitely excluded by such tests, Dr. Roche Lynch told the Court.

"These tests can never establish paternity; they can only establish non-paternity," he added.

Mr. Leslie Richard Hawkins, of Castle Street, Aldbourne, the man who was cleared, told the News Chronicle recently that Dr. Roche Lynch gave his evidence free, as a public duty.

RESULT OF TESTS

Replies to Mr. R. J. Parker, appearing for Hawkins, Dr. Roche Lynch said Miss Ena Dorington came with her child to St. Mary's Hospital, London, on April 27 last.

Samples of their blood were taken in his presence.

Mr. Parker: Did Mr. Hawkins also come to the hospital, and did you personally take sample of his blood?—Yes.

Asked by Mr. Parker to explain what the tests proved, Dr. Roche Lynch replied:

"My results are: Miss E. Dorington, blood group AMN; baby, blood group AN.

"The children of parents whose groups are MN and M can only be M or MN and cannot be N.

"In this case the child is N. Therefore, with an MN, the father must have been MN or N. In this case it is absolutely established that Mr. L. R. Hawkins cannot be the father of the child Dorington. The factors A and O have no significance in this instance."

"NO MISTAKE"

At this point, Dr. Roche Lynch handed to the Bench a table reprinted from the British Medical Journal.

Mr. Parker: You are satisfied that you did not make a mistake?—I am.

Blood tests in this country are very infrequent?—That is so. Up to 1929 the test had been used in over 5,000 cases of disputed paternity in Europe alone.

Mr. E. G. Docker (of Newbury), who appeared for Miss Dorington, said he was quite prepared to accept Dr. Roche Lynch's statement.

[Dr. Roche Lynch is director of the Department of Chemical Pathology at St. Mary's Hospital.]

Sir Francis Burdett, who presided, said that Miss Dorington's application would, therefore, be dismissed. Each side would pay its costs, excepting the expense of the blood test, which Hawkins had agreed to pay.

Queen Mary, arriving for her visit, left her car and walked up the carriage-drive until she met some children, of whom she asked the way.

But when she saw the rough nature of the ground which had to be crossed she returned to her car.

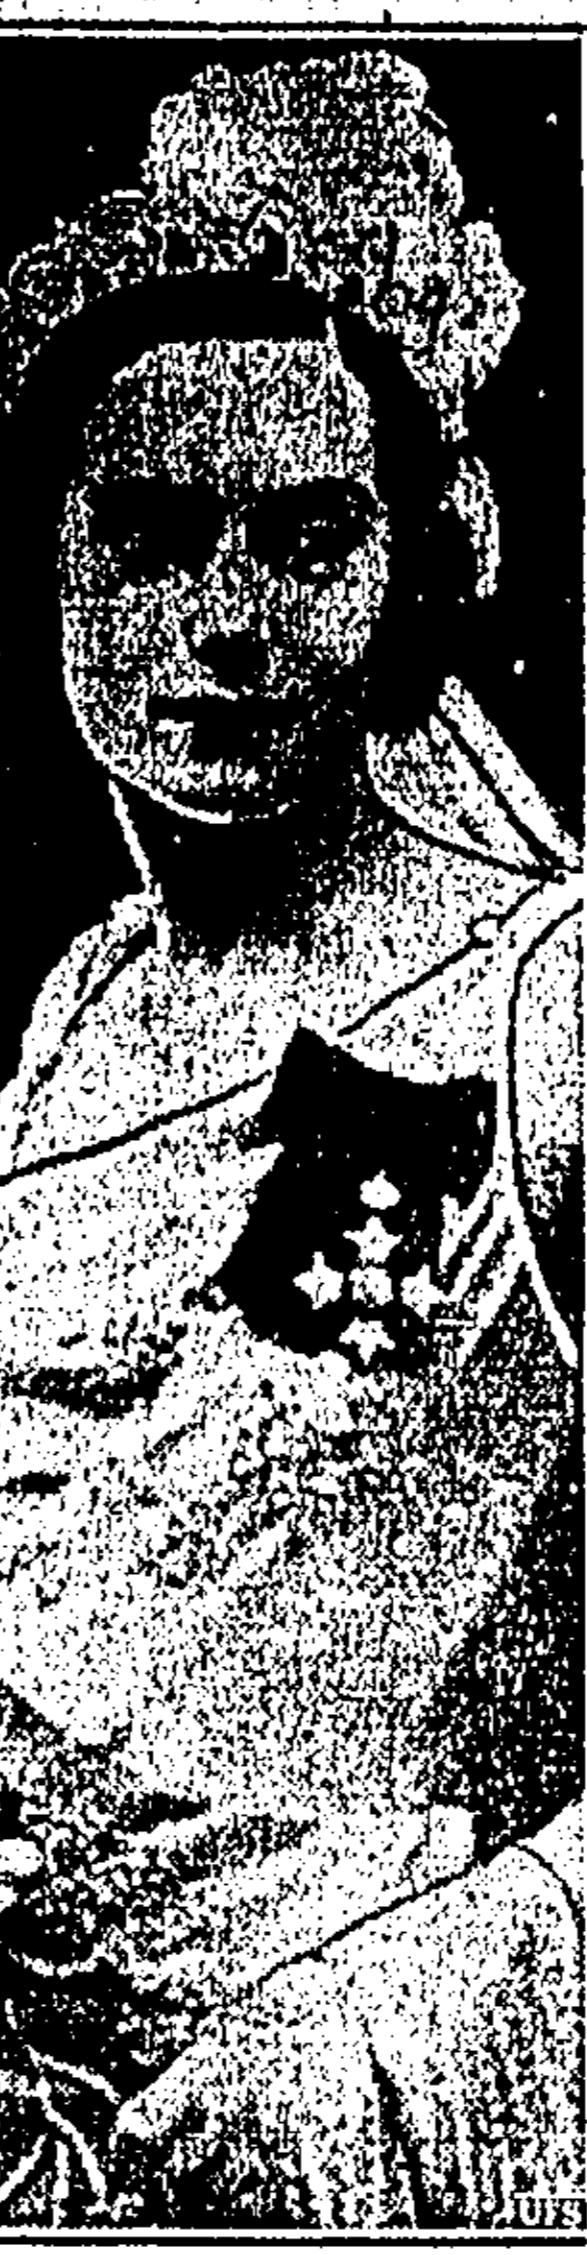

The chauffeur tried the gate to the garden, which he found was locked.

Queen Mary then drove back to London.

Two Department of Agriculture scientists have announced the discovery of four bacteria that give up their rugged individualism when the going gets difficult and organise themselves into an army, marching on parade with the precision of West Point cadets.

Scientists have long believed that bacteria act like ruthless savages. These four species, however, each units in a co-operative organisation when the water in which they live starts to dry up. They move in ranks with as many as 50 individual bacteria in single file. Half a dozen ranks of bacteria may parade across a microscope field in a few minutes, it was said.—United Press.

AUSTRIAN NAZIS JEALOUS

Berlin, June 25. Dissatisfaction of Austrian Nazis with their treatment since the Anschluss has been the source of constant rumours during the past fortnight.

LESSON SERMON

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Hongkong

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science Churches to-morrow June 26, will be "Christian Science."

The Golden Text will be, "The ransom of the Lord shall return and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness and sorrow and sighing shall flee away." (Isa. 35: 10).

Among others the following citations will be read from the Bible, "If ye love me, keep my commandments, and I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you forever; even the Spirit of Truth whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth in you and shall be in you. But the Comforter, which is the Holy Ghost whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things and bring all things to your remembrance whatsoever, I have said unto you." (John 14: 15-17, 20).

The following citations will be read from the Christian Science Textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "Christian Science rightly understood, leads to eternal happiness down the centuries, gathering beneath its wings the sick and sinners. May weary hope tries to realize happy day, when man shall recognize the Science of Christ and love his neighbour as himself,—when he shall realize God's omnipotence and the healing power of the divine love in what he has done and is doing for mankind. In the words of St. John: 'He shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you forever.' This Comforter I understand to be Divine Science." (Page 338-55).

A TENTH PROVINCE

Ottawa.

There is a possibility that a tenth province of Canada may come into being. The nine which at present form the Dominion are: Quebec, Ontario, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

For several months the Government has been considering revision of the boundaries of the North-West Territories, following a request by British Columbia for the inclusion of part of the Yukon and North-West Territories.

Now the Chamber of Commerce of Peace River, Alberta, has asked for an adjustment of boundaries to form a province comprising the Peace River districts of Alberta and British Columbia, and part of the Yukon territories.

It is claimed that money is being spent on the southern sections of the provinces to the exclusion of the northern districts.

JAPANESE ATTEMPT TO GET FOOTING

Canton, June 24. Having occupied Nimon, the Japanese are trying to get a footing on the mainland. It is stated that fighting broke out at Jilin on the coast opposite Nomon Island yesterday morning. A fleet of Japanese motor boats landed with marines attempted to make a landing at Jilin about 7 o'clock under cover of a strong barrage from several warships.

The Chinese local defence forces put up a brave resistance. A heavy engagement continued throughout the whole morning. The Chinese defenders were able to hold out until late yesterday afternoon, when they were compelled to retreat.

Latest information from Shanghai, north of Swaytow, reports that the Chinese forces at Jilin are regaining ground after many hours severe fighting since yesterday morning.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

STOCK MARKET REPORT

The Hongkong Stock Exchange weekly report issued yesterday, says:

As noted in the last few days' reports, the market has been fairly active and on balance there is a slight appreciation in prices in favour of holders. For the time being, buyers are probably satisfied, pending a period of digestion. Sellers, in view of the recent rise, may pursue a patient policy and refuse to offer shares preferring to hold until buyers again become more in evidence. Closing tone, quiet, but steady.

BRITAIN READY TO MEDIATE

To Bring End To China War

London, June 24. It is learned authoritatively that Lord Halifax, the Foreign Secretary, at a private session of the Foreign Affairs Committee held last night, revealed Britain's readiness to mediate between Japan and China.

It is understood that Lord Halifax said that the time is fast approaching when it will be possible for Britain to intervene and mediate "with good effect." It is reported that he brought the Committee members' attention to the fact that the conflict in China had developed to a stage to permit negotiations.

Observers speculate that the remarks are a trial balloon, since apparently neither Japan nor China is at present amenable to mediation.

It is reported, also, that Lord Halifax referred cryptically to the possibility of Anglo-American co-operation for the improvement of the international atmosphere. However, Parliament members are uncertain if he meant the United States may join the European "pool of peace."

The United Press informant said that Lord Halifax is optimistic regarding a settlement of the Czechoslovakian problem and drew attention to the fact that a "situation might develop in Poland. However, he expected a friendly settlement.

He also emphasized that Britain does not intend to conclude the Anglo-Italian Pact until the Spanish issue is settled.—United Press.

BIG TUBE COLLISION IS RE-STAGED

Drama Of Two Secret "Specials"

TRAGEDY was reconstructed under London the other morning.

With all the cool deliberation of an official inquiry, two trains, timed and spaced exactly as were those which collided on the District Line at Canning Cross, were driven out of the station and pulled up with a jolt in the tunnel.

The first driver had only to stop just where the original train had stopped.

In the case of the following train, tensely reliving those few moments of terror before the crash which caused six deaths, stood Motorman A. G. McLean, driver of the ill-fated second train in the recent crash.

Beside him, his eyes fixed on the stationary tail-light just ahead, was Lieutenant E. Woodhouse, Minister of Transport Inspector who is conducting the inquiry. He was seeing for himself just how that light would appear to the driver of a following train.

Everything had been scrupulously arranged. The trains had been fitted into the time table without appreciably delaying the ordinary service. To the minute they left the station on their way to re-enact the tragedy. And the public never knew.

East bound passengers at Charing Cross saw an empty train pull up. With locked doors it moved empty out of the station. A few seconds later another locked train arrived.

Porters told the astonished passengers that they were "just special trains."

In a few minutes an ordinary, unlocked train drew in. The passengers boarded it as usual, and it proceeded eastwards, following the two mysterious "specials," now on their way to Whitechapel to run into the general service.

ITALY'S BIG SPENDING FOR FASCIST CONVERTS

124 MILLION LIRE A YEAR

(By Jacob Simon)
United Press Staff Correspondent

Rome. Italy spends 124 million lire annually on propaganda of various kinds in foreign countries in an effort to make new converts for Fascism and to keep Italians living abroad in closer contact with their homeland, a study of the current financial budget reveals.

Almost half of this money, most of which comes from the budget of the Ministry for Foreign Affairs, is spent on Italian schools abroad. The Italian government maintains 138 schools in foreign lands and gives financial assistance to an additional 654.

This alone costs the government 60 million lire yearly. These schools, which are chiefly established in the United States, South America and France, have a total attendance of 65,000. The pupils are almost exclusively sons and daughters of Italians living abroad and the main aim of the schools is to teach them Italian and get them interested in the new Fascist Italy.

Naturally the Italian government hopes the majority of these Italian boys will opt for Italian citizenship when they become of age, rather than accepting the nationality of the country in which they were born.

The Fascist Party boasts that more than 80,000 Italian boys and girls living in foreign countries are now regularly inscribed in the Balilla organisation, recently renamed the "Giovani del Littorio."

According to a recent party communication some 10,000 applications for membership in this organization were received in Latin America alone last year. The government yearly incurs between five and six million lire in assisting these foreign branches.

Last year the government at its own expense brought 18,000 of these Italian boys back to Italy to spend a few weeks in summer camps with their young Fascist brothers. Many of them came from the United States and Latin America. The same thing will be done this summer.

In addition to the Fascist organizations in foreign countries which are directly subsidized by the government, there are many private Italian associations and clubs supported by wealthy Italian communities. This is particularly true in the United States where the Order of the Sons of Italy is a flourishing organization. In South America there is an Association of Italians.

Most of these non-official organizations have a distinct bond with Fascist Italy. Many of them operate on programmes laid down by the "Dante Alighieri," which is a government and supported organization created to spread Italian culture and propaganda in foreign countries. This organization has 200 committees in foreign countries with a total membership of 23,000.

To further this work the government spends 10,000,000 lire annually which is entered in the Foreign Affairs budget as "defence of Italy's interests abroad." Exactly how this sum is expended is not divulged.

The second biggest item for foreign propaganda, after schools, is 20 million lire annually for "tourist propaganda." This appears in the budget of the Ministry of Popular Culture. This money mostly is spent on foreign advertising to attract tourists to Italy.

In addition the Ministry of Popular Culture spends about two and one-half million lire annually on keeping Italian press attaches in the capitals of the world. The chief task of these men is to try to obtain a better press for Fascist Italy in foreign newspapers.

Other items of a propaganda nature in the budgets of the ministries of Popular Culture and Foreign Affairs are: special political missions abroad, £3,000,000; broadcasts to foreign countries, £500,000; foreign conferences and congress, £1,170,000; secret expenses, £1,000,000.

A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM. This is a condition (or disease) to which many nations are subject but few really understand. It is simply waste of energy and strength. What is the vital force that sustains the system? No matter what may be its causes (they are almost numberless), the result is always the same, the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration, or weariness, depression of spirits, loss of appetite, etc. Now, what is the remedy? All such cases is increased vitality—vigor, vital strength and energy to throw off these morbid feelings and conditions. This can only be more certainly secured by a course of THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY, THERAPION NO. 3, than by any other known combination. So much, as it is taken in accordance with the printed directions will the shattered health be restored.

THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE. This is a condition of the human body and any assistance impeded in placing it in what had so lately seemed worn-out, used up and valueless. This preparation is suitable for all ages, constitutions and conditions. It is a fact that it is difficult to conceive a disease or derangement whose male feature is weakness, that will not be remedied by this preparation, or cured by this recuperative essence, which it is destined to bring into oblivion everything that had preceded it for a still wide-spread scourge of humanity.

RESPONSIBILITY OF EMPIRE MEMBERS

Very much has been said, and much more will be said, about the responsibility of member states of the British Commonwealth if one or another of them should be involved in war. There has always been a section of the public in Canada, for instance, which holds that the Dominion should not go to war, even if some other part of the Empire were attacked, without a referendum, or, at very least, a vote in Parliament. There is an obvious flaw in the argument against automatic co-operation in times of hostilities. If any state accepts the advantages of membership in the Empire, it must also accept responsibility for defence of that Empire—every portion of it, from the vast provinces of India, Australia and Canada to the pin-points on the map which are strategic British islands throughout the seven seas. Wherever violence is used against the British flag, it is the duty of all British people to prepare for its defence; otherwise they have no right to expect to enjoy the prestige and protection which the British flag assures them. At the moment the Canadian Government clings to the idea of independent action in the emergency of war. But there is no significance in that; it is no more than a manifestation of an increasing national consciousness and national pride. Were the Empire, or any part of it, ever to be engaged in war there can be no doubt of the reaction of the Canadian people. They would respond as they have always done.

The Victoria Colonist says:

"The point of interest in the Prime Minister's statement is that Canada will not join the Empire in a war except on the decision of Parliament. In such a war it is not the Parliament of this country that will decide, but the country or countries engaged in hostilities with the rest of the Empire, or, for that matter, with Great Britain alone. Any hostile power, under any set of circumstances, would regard the British Empire as one and indivisible, as open to attack, and, most assuredly, would not pay the slightest attention to decisions of local parliaments. The situation could conceivably arise of Canada being attacked immediately following the declaration of a war by Great Britain. This Dominion would then be engaged automatically in such a war, if only for the purpose of self-defence. There might have been no time to consult Parliament, though that body of elected representatives would have the subsequent right to declare if Canada was at war, or the reverse, by granting or withholding supply."

Mr. R. B. Bennett, Canadian Opposition leader, in expressing his personal opinion, says: "Canada, as a member of the British Empire, is automatically at war if the Empire is attacked. Constitutionally there is no escape from this condition, save separation from the Empire. No casuistry, no specious pleas of autonomy in decisions on foreign policy can wipe out this inescapable fact." Where the Empire is involved in hostilities it is the country with which it is at war that determines that the whole Empire is engaged in the struggle. No attention would be paid to any contrary opinion reached by the Parliament of this country. That may be a humiliating thought to a certain section of public opinion, that the country must face certain eventualities in which it cannot itself decide questions of war and peace. That is the penalty of being part of an Empire, but at the same time it is a matter of pride that the doctrine of one for all and all for one should make that Empire possible. It stands together, or, failing such a conception, commences to disintegrate."

The Victoria Colonist says:

In such a war it is not the Parliament of this country that will decide, but the country or countries engaged in hostilities with the rest of the Empire, or, for that

SECRET SOCIETIES AMONGST CHINESE WOMEN

T. Paul Gregory Reveals Some Interesting Facts

One of the usual, if not entirely expected phases of Chinese life, is the prevalence of organisations or associations of various kinds which are more or less subject to the same rules as the secret orders of the West. These Chinese societies, moreover, are of almost masonic exclusiveness, and are especially distinguished from kindred developments elsewhere inasmuch as they are mostly confined to the so-called Oriental "Fourth Estate". This, however, does not infer that the raison d'être of their existence is for some sinister purpose—far from it. On the contrary, they are full of interest, as they are of considerable antiquity, and have come into being from various motives—praise-worthy, as well as equivocal—exerting their mystic influence upon the Chinese proletariat of both sexes.

Those which flourish amongst the fair sex are, however, on account of their singularity and the strenuous efforts made by their members to keep their purposes secret, the most interesting. They are, moreover, so little known that they are almost a terra incognita to even the Chinese themselves. These feminine organisations are really sororities or "sisterhoods" and incredible, as it may seem are of most frequent occurrence amongst the servant class of Chinese women. Indeed, it is alleged that a considerable portion of the Chinese maidservants in South China are spinsters and half of one section of the country—the Shun-tak district in Kwangtung,

These women are noted for their sturdy independence, largely on account of the fact that their maternal ancestors, have for unnumbered generations, been accustomed to earn their livelihood by tending the silk-worms for which the district is famous. The economic depression of a few years ago, however, changed all this, and owing to the low price of silk, thousands of women and girls were forced to migrate to the cities in search of employment. Most of them, incidentally, found work as domestic servants, thus bringing into their new vocations an ardent admiration for their respective "sisterhoods".

Fundamental Aims

Regardless of what is popularly believed, the fundamental aim of these various sororities has been the economic independence of its members, fulfilling, in a measure, the rôle of mutual benefit associations. As a rule, however, these societies meet with neither the approval of the general public nor of the immediate families of those who participate in their activities; but so alluring is their matter, with Great Britain alone. Any hostile power, under any set of circumstances, would regard the British Empire as one and indivisible, as open to attack, and, most assuredly, would not pay the slightest attention to decisions of local parliaments. The situation could conceivably arise of Canada being attacked immediately following the declaration of a war by Great Britain. This Dominion would then be engaged automatically in such a war, if only for the purpose of self-defence. There might have been no time to consult Parliament, though that body of elected representatives would have the subsequent right to declare if Canada was at war, or the reverse, by granting or withholding supply."

The advantages of having such a "wife", who is one in name only, must appear very dubious to the "husband," but it may be stated that according to the Shun-tak custom, the "wife" buys a concubine for him to "marry." She does not partake of food or drink in the man's house, but is supplied by those of her "sisterhood" who are in constant attendance. As soon as the three days' wedding ceremony is ended the maid is conveyed away by her "sisters" never again to set foot in her "husband's" home except on rare occasions of ritual felicitation, which when completed, she immediately departs.

The reasons for the singular behaviour on the part of the members of the Kam-lan-wool are stated to be primarily a fear of motherhood, and dread of the thralldom of being under the "thumb" of a mother-in-law. The actual explanation, however, appears to be based on the sanctity of the celibate, that holiness is only commensurate with purity, and that the repression of all sensuality is the summum bonum of human existence.

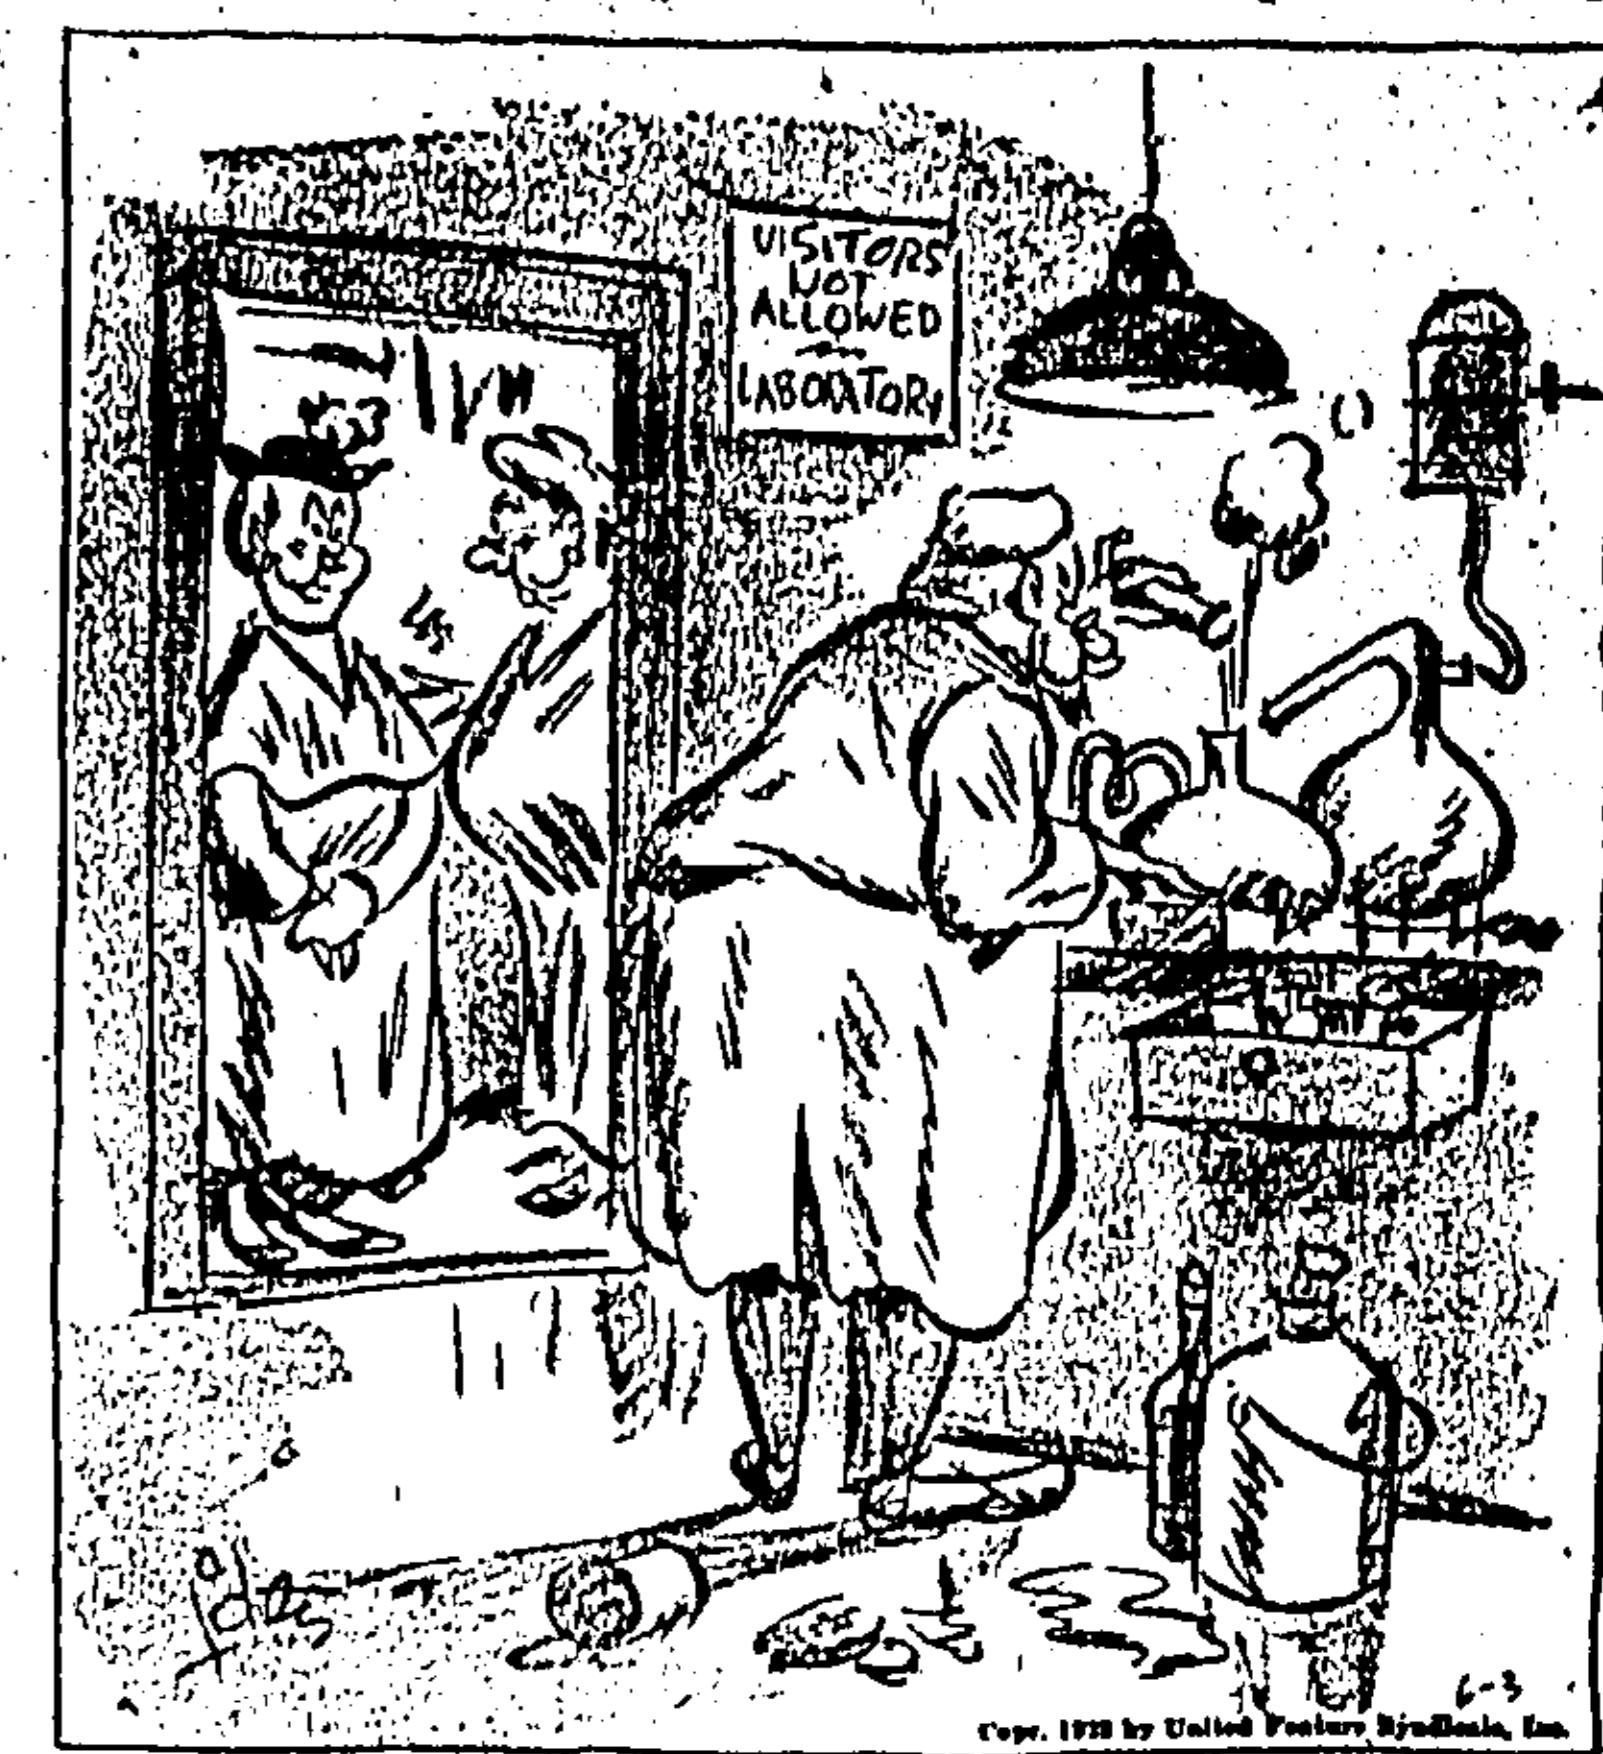

Pathological

There is also another type of association which is entered in between two women and which is indubitably of a pathological character. It is termed in Cantonese "Kai-keung-eh" or "Confidantes" and has been frequently described in medical literature. In this type of relationship, one of the girls goes through a form of marriage with the other, which is carried out in the presence of witnesses and is regarded by the participants as legal and binding. Such love is, of course, perverted, and happily of very rare occurrence.

Other forms of secret societies in vogue amongst Cantonee maid-servants are the various shik-ts'oi-wool or "vegetarian associations". These are stated to be immensely popular and on account of their connection with Buddhism have been regarded with considerable favour. They are, however, subject to strict rules and are imbued with many occult principles, which are, of course, known only to those women who have been duly initiated into their mysteries. Occasionally the initiates meet together to perform various ceremonies, at which "vegetarian" sacrifices are offered to Heaven and Earth, and the deities of Buddhist pantheon. The sacrifices generally consist of the eight "holy

MR. PEPPYS in HONGKONG

16th.—Talking in the Clubbe this morning I doe hear from Mr. Povy that there is much offense by the withdrawal of a picture by name "Inside Nazi Germany", seeing that this is a British Colony. But I do hear that the commentary was offensive to the German nation I believe the Censor to bee right, for it is not fitting to offend friendly nations, and I doubt not were the case reversed much the same would happen. Yet it gives occasion for our communists to write stupid letters saying that the German Consulate had caused the film to be stopped. But I doubt not what occurred was a course similar to the one I myself took some years ago, when being a Censor and in some doubt as to whether a film would offend the local Germans I did ask a German friend to see it with me and to tell me if he did take offence at it. And when he said he did, I did stop the piece myself and not he, who did but give me the national view. But Lord! in this hot and damp weather there is little to be done and more folk write silly letters than usual, having as I suppose naught else to do. At one of the clock to the Roof Garden where come Knip and Mistress Diana, and we take Chinese food to our num-choon, the birdsnest and mushroom soup being as good as ever I ate. Then I did order my papers at my office and later do take Mistress Diana to the Huipel by which she doth travel to Wei Hal where is her husband's shippe. So, after drinking a farewell glass with her, I do say farewell and see ashore, and to the Clubbe.

17th.—Reading in the Newsheet this day I find letters which disapprove the slaying of two turtles lately at Tweed Bay. Now it may bee that there is somewhat on both sides, but I would fain bee sure that who wrote never become parties to the slaying of other creatures by eating a fried sole or garoupa. For a turtle steak is mighty good eating, and all know turtle soup. Some of course there bee who go so far as to decry all killing of animals for food, but I doe regard them as fanatic. Speaking of this with Creed he says that a turtle would make no good pet, and I do believe him as its jaws be so powerful they could snap off a man's hand at the wrist. When I am come to my garden early I doe consider my garden which, save for some Indian Corn and Master John Davids, hold little these days. And I am minded to try to fix a sun-screen with sliding curtains, the shade being somewhat restricted, especially since the typhoon of 1936 did blow over one of my palms in an angle of forty-five degrees. Having lined the things" such as kwa-tze or "melon seeds," ping-p'long or "rock candy," ping-ling-eh or "red jujube," hak-tee or "black dates," fa-shang or "ground-nuts," kat or "mandarin oranges," strips of tung-kwa-kon or "dried wax-gourds," and lastly lungan or the so-called "dragon's eye." This latter is especially esteemed as it is stated to be the symbol par-excellence of all the various "vegetarian societies" which delight the ploughsmen of so many of Hongkong's Chinese smahs.

Finally there are the numerous "sisterhoods" whose purpose is the mutual assistance of the members. They are therefore fundamentally "benefit associations" but are clothed with the glamour of romance that arises from requiring the participants to swear oaths and undergo the experience of a simple but highly impressive initiation. Such societies are popularly credited with doing great deal of good, as the "sisters" aid each other in every possible way. Thus if one should fall ill, the others undertake to nurse her back to health or if hospital treatment is required "club" together in order to raise the necessary funds. In the case of death, the survivors pay the funeral expenses, and undertake to care for the dependants, if any.

20th.—Up betimes and to my office where I am mighty busy, and later to the Clubbe for my num-choon. And it doth strike me as strange how little men doe speak of the war in China, it being, as I suppose, because it doe seem too ill a thing to speak of. But I doe this day hear some talk of the Yellow River floods, though how it shall affect the war no one seems to know clearly. But whatever may bee, I doe fear countless Chinese peasants must die by water or famine. Some say that the Yellow River may go back into its old bed and flow out to the south of Shantung, while others think it may even strike down the Grand Canal and, it may bee, join the Yangtze. But if this should come to pass God knows what disasters might befall. Home pretty betimes.

21st.—A foul day full of damp heat and I doe catch a somewhat lame trammie than is my wont, with more people in it. And I having, as is my wont, an open necked shirt and no cravat, doe have many glances cast upon me. But I am minded that it is better to get a look of contumely than prickly heat upon the neck, and so do not on my cravat until night upon noon. Home this evening with Mr. A. Jay in his motor coach and did drink a glass of wine with him in his flat, where once stood Craigieburn. And I find he has it mighty well ordered and a most excellent prospect. Later I meet my he child and we do drink a glass of wine with a friend and thence home.

22nd.—This day to the Roof Garden where Mr. Caldwell and his Lady and another come to take their num-choon with me, and I do find the shark's fin soup pretty well, but, I doubt, not equal to the birds-nest. Back to the office and thence to the Clubbe but there is little news and indeed life these days I find mighty dull. Home, and dined by myself, my children being from home, and so to bed.

Fun With Synonyms

Another list of 10 words and their synonyms to be paired off:

"THAT chap who went out just now," said Playfair to Sergeant Dumbell, "is the managing editor of the Evening Echo. He's been helping me in the matter of these Blix advertisements."

"Blix?" said Dumbell. "Blix? I don't think I'm in on this, sir."

Playfair lifted his eyebrows. "I asked Mansa to show you the file."

"Sorry, sir; he hasn't done so. I've been over at Norbury all morning."

"Then I'll put you wise right away," said Playfair. "I want you to be here when I talk to that chap name Chevittle." He pointed to some papers on the table, which had various advertisements marked in blue pencil. "Here," he said, "is the Blix series to date, including—have a look at it—today's."

Dumbell took up the issue in question and read out the marked advertisement.

"Holed in one," said Playfair approvingly. "The advertisements are inserted by—well, by whom, we don't quite know. But he's the head of what Sir Gerald calls the Blix gang. Thieves, and expert thieves at that, with Mr. Blix in control. Have a look at some of the previous ads. See how they vary? The same sort of nonsense about Blix, but differing in their departmental numbers—here's Dept. 4; here's Dept. 6—and also in their phone numbers. Mr. Blix, you see, is ubiquitous. His millions—who are on the look-out each day for the signal Blix—are summoned, now from one phone number, now from another. I presume that not one of them really knows where Blix himself hangs out."

Dumbell reflected. "But surely, sir, you can trap him through these ads. Ring up yourself, sir."

"And what?" asked Playfair. "Sir Gerald had the same bright idea; so you're not in bad company, Dumbell. There's nothing for your feet here, where a polite voice answers our call."

"Awkward," said Dumbell. "Have you tried—?" But at this moment a ring from below announced Mr. Chevittle's arrival.

"Mr. Chevittle," said Playfair, to the middle-aged man, of hard-boiled appearance, who was shown in a few moments later, "I have reason to believe that you are primarily concerned in the theft of a string of emeralds."

"You are misinformed, Inspector,"

"I have reason to believe also," continued Playfair imperturbably,

"that the emeralds are now in your possession—though not, I presume, on your person—and that you contemplate disposing of them to—what shall I call him?—Mr. Blix."

"Good," answered Playfair. "I should advise you not to try—

"I get the idea," said Dumbell, as the door closed behind Chevittle. "He'll be followed; his phone call will be overheard; and you'll find out what the Blix pass-word is."

"No," answered Playfair. "You get no marks for that, Dumbell. He's got a Bentley waiting outside."

None the less, he was able to report that evening that Chevittle had been arrested and had made a full confession. Moreover he had agreed to turn King's Evidence, and the break-up of the Blix gang was assured.

How had Chevittle been trapped?

INSPECTOR PLAYFAIR

EPISODE 67

"I don't know what you're talking about," said Chevittle.

Playfair looked hard at his visitor. "Are you No. 7?"

"No. 7?" said Chevittle. "Inspector. You've been reading too many thrillers."

Playfair pushed over the Evening Echo. "See that?" he said. "Blix for Tired Feet, Mr. Chevittle. Ring up Dept. No. 7, Dufford 8370."

"Dufford 8370," murmured Chevittle. "Conveys nothing to me. My feet are in excellent trim, Inspector, and if this is some parlour-game you've invented it's one that I don't play at."

"Good," answered Playfair. "I should advise you not to try—

"I get the idea," said Dumbell, as the door closed behind Chevittle. "He'll be followed; his phone call will be overheard; and you'll find out what the Blix pass-word is."

my weary pilgrimage. The Blix business is a fake from beginning to end."

Dumbell whistled. "I see, sir. Some sort of code."

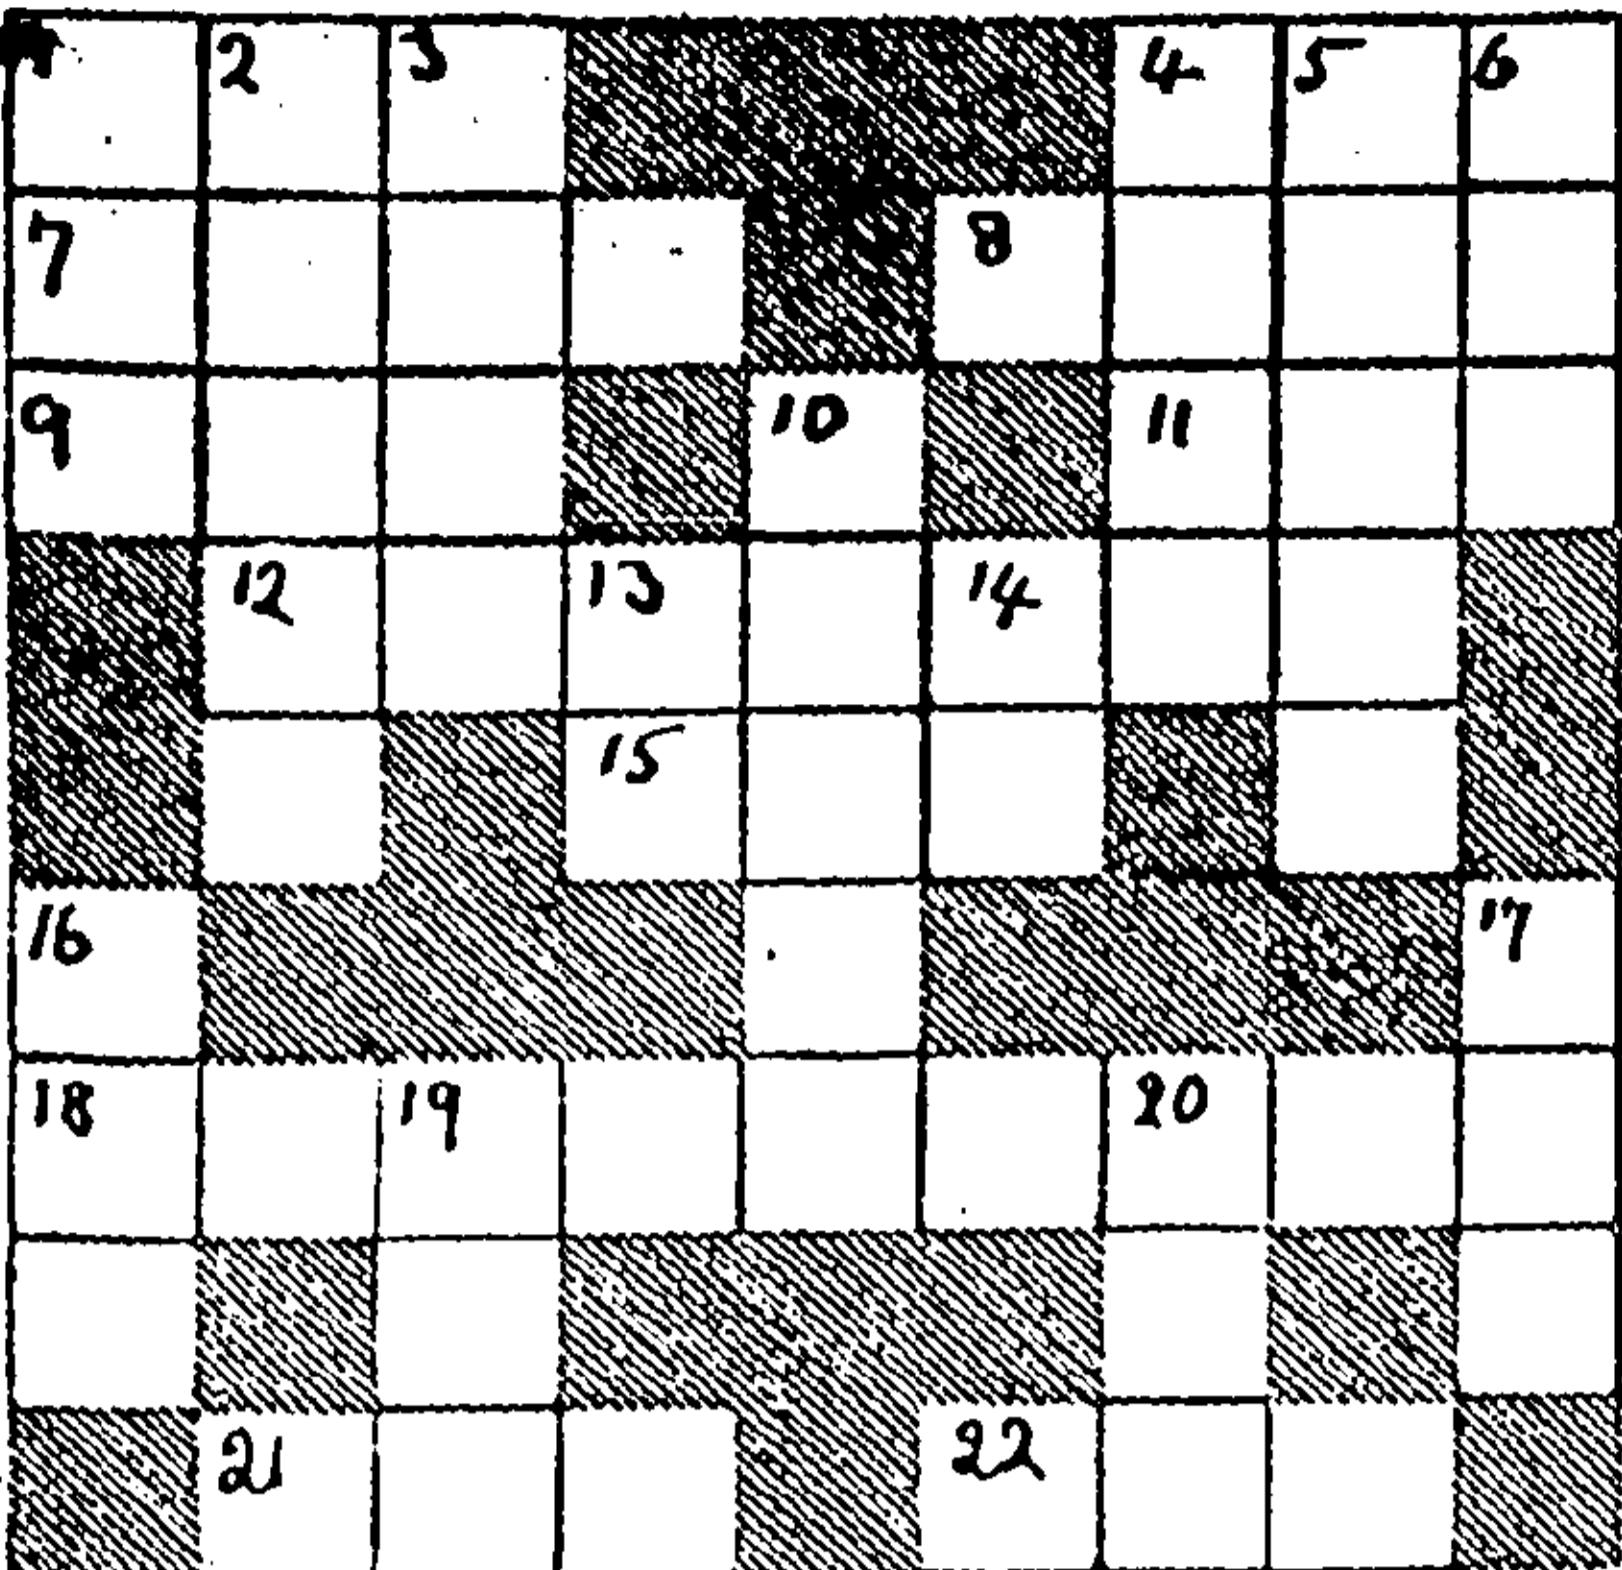

"Holed in one," said Playfair approvingly. "The advertisements are inserted by—well, by whom, we don't quite know. But he's the head of what Sir Gerald calls the Blix gang. Thieves, and expert thieves at that, with Mr. Blix in control. Have a look at some of the previous ads. See how they vary? The same sort of nonsense about Blix, but differing in their departmental numbers—here's Dept. 4; here's Dept. 6—and also in their phone numbers. Mr. Blix, you see, is ubiquitous. His millions—who are on the look-out each day for the signal Blix—are summoned, now from one phone number, now from another. I presume that not one of them really knows where Blix himself hangs out."

Dumbell reflected. "But surely, sir, you can trap him through these ads. Ring up yourself, sir."

"And what?" asked Playfair. "Sir Gerald had the same bright idea; so you're not in bad company, Dumbell. There's nothing for your feet here, where a polite voice answers our call."

The SNAPSHOT GUILD CHOOSING A CAMERA

Fast vacation-time action calls for a speedy shutter. Nobody wants to miss shots like this, or get pictures that are blurred and fuzzy because of movement.

IF YOU are planning to get a new camera for your vacation this year, let me suggest that you do not delay until the last moment, and then have to pick your instrument in a great rush.

A camera should be chosen with care and attention to every detail—picture size, lens, shutter, view finder, ease of opening and handling, finish and durability. Moreover, it should be obtained early enough for you to become thoroughly familiar with its workings, because on a vacation you will often want to use it in a hurry.

Compare and handle several cameras before you choose. Study lenses—maybe you will want an f/2.8, to make sure of well-timed snapshots on dull days, or an f/4.5, twice as fast, for speedy action shots in bad light, as well as better indoor snap shots. It is well to bear in mind, too, that a good fast anastigmat lens gives sharper pictures—which means better enlargements. If you

PLANE SPEED-UP PLANS HAVE FAILED—Churchill's Charge

Premier Refuses Supply Ministry And Inquiry

The Government refused to budge an inch when challenged in the House of Commons by the Opposition's demand for an independent inquiry into the state of our air defences, and the setting up of a Ministry of Supply to organise the more rapid production of aeroplanes and other equipment.

The Prime Minister turned down both demands with equal decisiveness.

For doing so, he was attacked by Mr. Winston Churchill, Minister of Munitions in 1917, who was willing to surrender the inquiry, but insisted that a Ministry of Supply was essential.

"No mere change of Ministers," he declared, "will meet this occasion. We must have a change of system. At the present time there is inefficiency, overlapping, and waste. Surely it is a time when Ministers should rise to the level of events and give a more effective defence and service to a nation which has trusted them so long."

He poured ridicule on Mr. Chamberlain's contention that the present system of supply, made up of a surprising number of committees and sub-committees, was adequate.

"Moving right in this jungle, without executive power, and burdened with a whole sphere of other and important duties," he said with a glance at Sir Thomas Inskip, "is my right hon. learned and unfortunate friend the Minister for the Co-ordination of Defence." (Laughter.)

"GOODS NOT DELIVERED"

The existing machinery had failed, and had not delivered the goods. Why had the Prime Minister refused to set up a Ministry of Supply?

"It is true," he conceded with a twinkle in his eye, "that I have pressed it on him for the last two years—but is that sufficient reason for his obstinate refusal? Has he ever heard of St. Anthony the Hermit, who was condemned by the fathers of the Church because he refused to do right when the Devil told him to?" (Laughter and cheers).

He declined to believe in the Government's "press button" scheme for bringing instantly into operation a new supply system if it were needed.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, the Liberal leader, who wanted both an Inquiry and a Ministry of Supply, was equally dissatisfied with the Prime Minister's claim that the existing supply system was effective.

THE MORASS OF COMMITTEES

Among his chief points were:

The House of Commons demands speed, energy, and direction in carrying out the programme, but the Prime Minister tells us that the current of supply must continue to meander through this morass of committees;

The charge against the Government, and it has not been met, is that although they undertook to close the gap between our Air Force and the strongest force within striking distance, it has not only not been closed but still continues and is getting wider;

All the ex-Ministers of Munitions, the Royal Commission on the Manufacture of Armaments, and the Cadman Committee on Civil Aviation are in favour of a change in our system of supply.

He recalled that, when Mr. Lloyd George produced his plan for the wartime Ministry of Munitions, a committee of heads of Departments riddled it with criticism. When it was put to Mr. Lloyd George, that this meant the end of his plan, he replied: "No, it means the end of the committee." (Laughter and cheers).

Moving the Labour motion demanding an inquiry, which the Prime Minister insisted on interpreting as a motion of censure, Mr. Dalton, former Labour Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, drew a disquieting picture of "muddle, incompetence, friction and jealousy" at the Air Ministry.

"THE FINEST FIGHTING MACHINE"

The Prime Minister, replying again warmly praised Lord Swinton, and declared that in the Air Force as it stood to-day we had a defence of which any country might be proud.

If it were put to the test to-morrow, with whatever deficiencies there might be thought it would prove to be one of the most formidable fighting machines in the world.

He understood that the bombers now in service were the fastest in the world, and the new types on order would show a great advance on them. It was very unlikely that their performance would be surpassed by those of any other country. He was also informed that the Spitfire was the fastest fighter in the world.

EMPIRE NEWS FIVE HINDUS FLUNG INTO FLAMES

Thirty-five Indian villagers of Kilkil near Nahar have been sentenced for burning alive five Sadhus—Hindu ascetics. Six of the villagers are to be transported for life.

The Sadhus had encamped near the village, and a spark from their camp fire destroyed 20 houses. The villagers ascribed the fire to black magic which, they said, the Sadhus had practised because they had been refused alms.

The sleeping Sadhus were dragged towards a pyre and flung into the flames. As they struggled to escape they were beaten back by the infuriated villagers.

The Rupee Ratio.—There is a possibility that the seven Congress provincial Governments—Bombay, United Provinces, Central Provinces, Madras, Bihar, Orissa and North-West Frontier Province, will urge the Central Government to lower the rupee exchange rate from its present fixed rate of just over 1s. 6d. Various finance ministers have made it clear on several occasions that the policy of the Government of India is to allow the present rate to continue. There may, however, be a further discussion in the Legislature, in deference to Congress sentiment.

Congress Pact in Mysore.—The Mysore Government has reached an agreement with the Congress party by which the party will be recognised as one of the political parties in the State. It will be permitted to fly its flag together with the Mysore flag at certain functions. The Government promises to release all political prisoners.

Prince's Marriage.—The marriage took place recently of Prince Jayachamaraj Wadiyar, son of the Yuvaraja of Mysore, to Rajkumari Satyamani Devi of Charkheda.

SOUTH AFRICA

THE DEFENCE OF CAPE TOWN

Gen. Smuts, Minister of Justice, speaking at Plaatsmarietburg, Natal, said that Table Bay would probably become the greatest port of the Southern Hemisphere. The harbour would have to be made a refuge for merchant and naval ships in time of peace and war. Gen. Smuts referred to a recent article by Vice-Adm. Osborne, in which it was stated that the Union could make no better gift to the Empire than by making Cape Town a fortified base.

Speaking at Stellenbosch, Cape Province, Dr. Malan, leader of the Opposition, said that the Cape Town Harbour extensions were being carried out on the advice of British naval experts, with South African money.

Gift to Liner.—Lt.-Col. B. F. Armstrong, Officer Commanding, Cape Command, has, on behalf of the officers of the Command, presented the new Union Castle liner, Cape Town Castle, 20,000 tons, with a silver plaque. It is a token of the gratification felt at the naming of the ship after the present military headquarters in Cape Town.

Fruit Freight Rates.—Mr. R. F. Gibb, chairman of the Union Castle Company, states that he sees no hope for a reduction in the shipping conference freight rates for fruit.

Reformed Church Loss.—The Rev. P. G. J. Meiring, 71, one of the most popular of Dutch Reformed Church ministers in South Africa, has died.

£1,000,000 Claim By A Girl

New York.

A claim for £1,000,000 for alleged assault has been filed against Mr. Milton Beecher, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer music director, by pretty 21-year-old Miss Eloise Spann, known as the "Republican Party's Sweetheart," since she sang at their last convention.

Eloise alleges that Beecher lured her to his flat on August 26, 1936, gave her a drink which made her drowsy, and afterwards warned her to say nothing.

Fifty co-defendants are included in the suit. Eloise declaring that they, as members of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer music department, helped Beecher to persuade her that she would get a film audition.

Time and place of the duel were kept secret, but an army of reporters and photographers followed the combatants, and some saw the duel from walls and trees.

The fight was delayed for an hour because M. de Martel, one of the surgeons in attendance, had 11 operations to perform this morning.

FURIOUS ATTACK

Bernstein won the toss and chose to fight with his back to the sun. To avoid being dazzled Bourdet was allowed to keep his hat on and Bernstein did likewise. The duellists faced each other in their shirt-sleeves, Bernstein in a dark blue shirt, Bourdet, unwisely, in a white one.

From the start Bourdet attacked furiously, but Bernstein, by superior fencing, kept him out of reach.

In the second round Bourdet nearly touched Bernstein—once in the body, once in the face.

Finally, rushing in to attack, he ran on to Bernstein's rapier, which pierced his right bicep to the bone.

The duel was stopped after the doctors of both parties had examined the wound and pronounced Bourdet disabled.

(Personal differences and a delay in the production of one of M. Bernstein's plays at the Comédie Française led to the quarrel.)

Seeks Divorce For Insanity After 60 Years Of Marriage

Thirty-two thousand people whose wives or husbands have been in asylums more than five years will be affected by the decision of the judge who will hear the divorce petition of Sir Frank Swettenham, eighty-eight-year-old knight, at the end of May.

Sir Frank, who has been married sixty years, is asking for release from his wife under the insanity clause of the new Act. His case is one of the first six of the kind to be heard.

All are in the defendant list, and each respondent is represented by a guardian.

Act provides that the petitioner must prove the partner is incurably insane, and has been continually under care and treatment for at least five years. Whether the court will insist on a medical certificate or accept the fact of delusion in a mental home.

Four Men Leading £400,000,000 Cinema "War"

The biggest civil war in the history of show business has broken out.

It is war involving capital interests worth £400,000,000; a war between 4,000 little men—owners of Britain's cinemas worth £235,000,000—and a small group of the leading film distributors, with current assets of £150,000,000.

Four champions of the little men—John Maxwell, head of Associated British; Arthur Jarratt, of Gaumont-British; Sidney Bernstein, and Major Gale—are touring the country, tub-thumping.

At each meeting they hold they urge cinema owners to vote unanimously for an anti-Hollywood stand.

The central organisation of the little men, the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association, will issue to members a list of new Hollywood films to be added to week by week—which they will be urged not to book.

Retaliation will certainly follow that. If films are boycotted, some cinema circuits stand to be boycotted too.

The distributors' organisation, the Kinematograph Renters' Society, may ask their members not to offer any films at all to certain circuits among the leaders of the revolt.

If the ban is thoroughly imposed, these circuits will have great difficulty in obtaining programmes.

The war, simply, is a fight to see who, in 1939, shall get the lion's share of the British box-office.

The Hollywood bosses, alarmed by sky-rocketing costs and shrinking receipts in the home market, have ordered their London representatives to "get more from Britain."

Of the £42,000,000 taken each year in British cinemas, Hollywood takes £12,000,000.

'DICTATORSHIP,' SAY OWNERS

Most of the renters meet each Thursday in the top room of a Soho restaurant, survey all films to be offered to the cinemas for a certain week, month ahead, and grade some "A" and others "B." Their rule is that all films marked "A" shall be offered only on a percentage-of-takings basis.

The cinema owners call this dictatorship. They say the policy will destroy the film business by lowering the quality of programmes, and will kill the double-feature programme and cine-variety.

The Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association will issue a list of "B" films. They will ask members to book these cheaper films, and to ignore films for which a percentage is demanded.

Biggest sufferers while this fight lasts—and there is no sign of truce, peace or victory for one side or the other before this time next year—will be the ordinary film fan, who occupies 1,000,000 seats, pays £42,000,000 a year.

Dance Bands Are Public's Favourites

Dance bands are still "Entertainment No. 1 in public opinion"—according to the dance bands.

Mr. C. A. Mackay, secretary of the Dance Band Leaders' Association, told the first annual meeting held at Chiswick recently that:

"Dance bands take more programme time at the B.B.C. than any other engagement and are top of the bill on the stage."

Fifty band leaders, many in sweaters and slacks, were at the meeting.

Most had been conducting until midnight the day before and some had travelled by night.

Jack Hyton had sent his regrets from Paris, and Henry Hall from Cardiff.

Henry Hall was elected chairman for the coming year, Jack Payne vice-chairman, Jack Hyton treasurer, and Jack Harries and Sydney Lipton trustees.

"Bigamy Almost His Occupation"

Said to have been legally married twice and bigamously three times, Reginald Wright Hughes (42), motor engineer who posed as a secret service man, was sent to prison for six months at the Old Bailey recently.

The Recorder (Mr. Gerald Dodson) told him: "You have had such a chequered matrimonial career that it is impossible to pass over the case. You made bigamy almost an occupation."

Detective-Sergeant P. Sinclair said that the police had received a communication from a young woman in Oxfordshire, saying that she met Hughes in 1935 and he promised to marry her. He told her he had been doing secret service work in Palestine and had been blinded while carrying out his duty. Later, he disappeared.

The officer added that Miss Anna Maria Austin, with whom Hughes went through a bigamous ceremony, had been left with a child.

It was stated at the last sessions that Hughes was married in March, 1917, and then twice committed bigamy before being divorced in 1925. In August, 1932, he contracted a second legal marriage.

Joan Can Wear
Smile

Hollywood. JOAN CRAWFORD can afford to smile at the depression which is now hitting Hollywood, and at the attack on her alleged lack of box-office appeal made recently by the Independent Theatre Owners' Association.

For in the next five years, she will take £300,000 from her studio. True, this does not work out so much per film as in the past, but £300,000 is still a lot of money.

When she completes that five-year contract she will have a record of more than 15 years' service in one studio—Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. It seems a long time ago now since she was Lucille la Severe, the little girl from Brooklyn.

CLERK'S
£90,000
FLATS

A former navigating officer and bank clerk who spent thousands of pounds in property deals admitted during his public examination in London Bankruptcy Court recently that he had never kept any books of accounts.

"All my income was collected by agents who kept accounts," he said, "and all the property business was managed by solicitors. The only record I have is my pass book."

Mr. Bruce Vileland Parker, the debtor, described as an insurance broker and property dealer, of Regent-street, W., admitted gross liabilities of £138,000, of which £47,310 was expected to rank against assets valued at £23,810.

Replying to Mr. C. Bruce Park, the Official Receiver, Mr. Parker said that from 1915 to 1920 he was an apprentice at sea as a navigating officer. In 1920 he became a bank clerk. On resigning his position in March, 1935 he received a bonus of £2,225 in lieu of a life pension.

In 1932, while still in employment, he started dealing in leasehold and freehold properties, his methods being to repair and renovate the premises in order to obtain a profitable sale and, while in possession, to let them at a figure which would cover the outgoings.

BOUGHT £31,000 ESTATE

In December 1934 he bought an estate for £31,000 and carried out renovations at a cost of £14,500. On account of the purchase he paid a deposit of £1,250, which he borrowed, while the balance, in respect of which £26,750 was still outstanding, was left on mortgage by the vendor.

The income from the rents of the estate was not sufficient to meet the outgoings and, in 1936, the mortgage entered into possession.

He also bought a block of flats on Chelsea Embankment for £60,000. He spent £1,700 on renovations, but was unable to let all the flats, and the income was insufficient to meet the outgoings. He borrowed £3,000 to meet the expenses, but last July he was unable to meet interest due, and the mortgage took possession.

Mr. Bruce Park said it appeared from investigation that the ranking liabilities would be about £50,000, and the deficiency would be about the same amount.

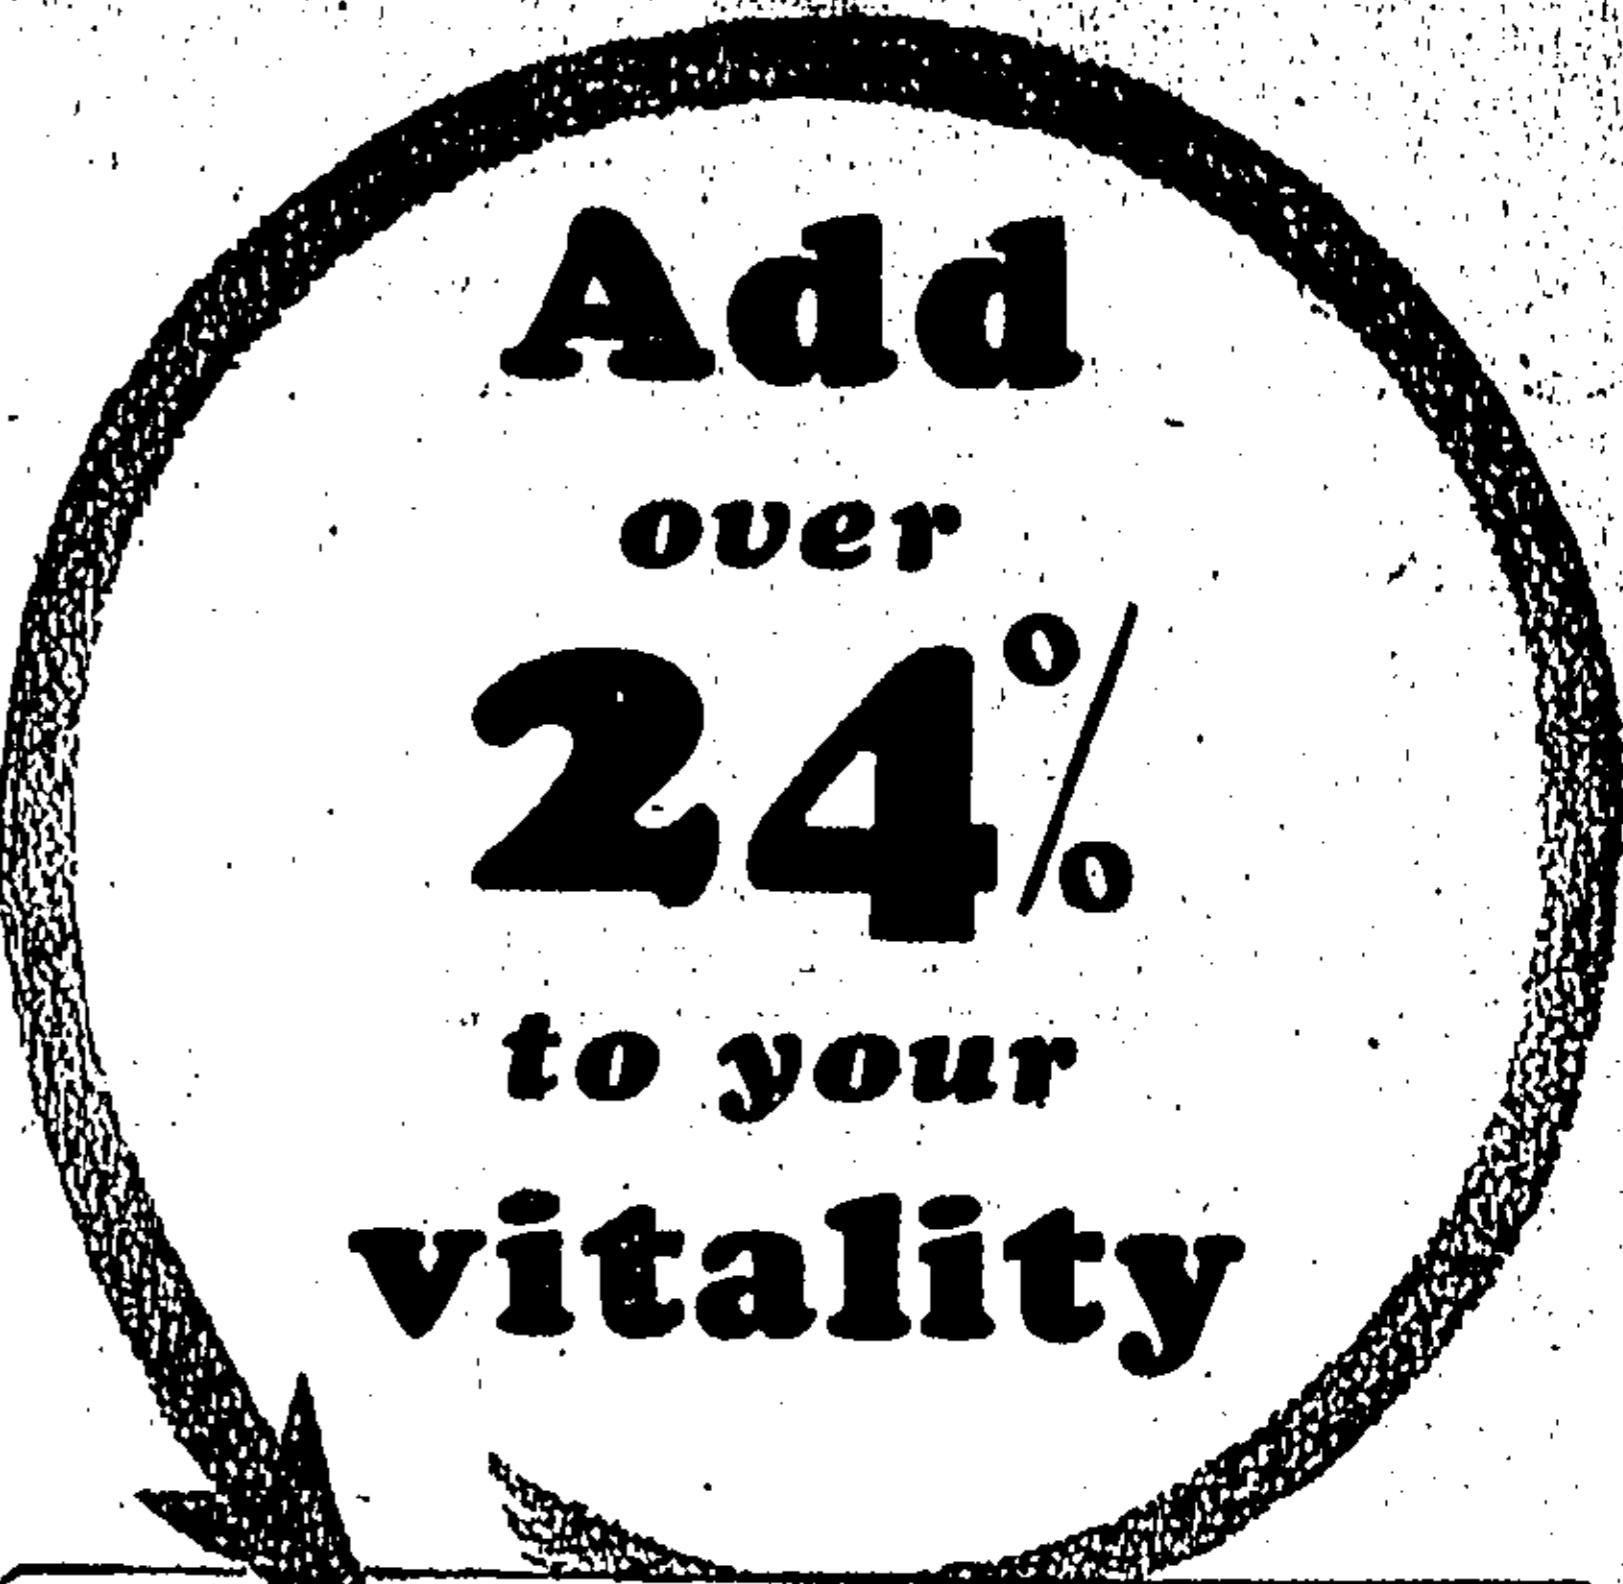

LAST LAP DASH WITH SERUM

Four hours after some rare serum had been sent 500 miles by plane from Aberdeen, in response to an urgent request from London, it was being administered in hope of saving the life of a Streatham woman, Mrs. A. Dickson.

Her husband met the plane at Croydon and rushed with the remedy to St. Peter's Nursing Home, where his wife lies ill with a rare form of pneumonia.

The only available supplies of the serum, which has been recently discovered, were in Aberdeen and Liverpool.

By telephone it was arranged that a supply should be motored from Aberdeen to Renfrew Aerodrome, and from there flown to Croydon, where Mr. Dickson waited to take it to Streatham.

SEVERAL "SEEDED" PLAYERS FAIL AT WIMBLEDON

CHINESE STAR LET DOWN BY HIS PARTNERS NOW OUT OF MIXED AND MEN'S DOUBLES

Several "seeded" players were eliminated at Wimbledon yesterday. D. Mitic, of Yugoslavia, was beaten in the fourth round of the men's singles by Max Ellmer, Switzerland, while Kho Sin-kie (China) and Miss Kay Stammers (England), one of the best pairs in the Mixed Doubles, were beaten by Anderson (America) and Miss Jarvis of England, and Mitic and Madame Mathieu (France), the fourth "seeded" pair in the tournament, were eliminated by Russell (Argentina) and Miss Freda James (England).

Apart from these three surprises, results of matches played yesterday went according to expectations.

Roderick Menzel, of Czechoslovakia, who had such a narrow shave against W. C. Choy, China, in the second round of the singles, was again taken to five sets in the third round. This time, it was C. M. Jones, the young British Davis Cup player, who nearly caused an upset. After winning the first two sets, the giant Czechoslovak, who is the third "seeded" player, dropped the next two. The fourth set went to 18 games before the young Englishman annexed it. Then, in the final set, Jones led 4-2, but was unable to clinch the advantage, and Menzel seized his opportunity, won it in the twelfth game.

The first surprise in the men's singles was seen when Max Ellmer (Switzerland) defeated D. Mitic, the Yugoslav Davis Cupper and one of the "seeded" players, in the fourth round. It was a dog-eat-dog battle, going to five sets. The Syros Davis Cupper won by 3-0, 6-2, 7-5, 1-6, 6-2.

In the same round, Puncic (Yugoslavia) had little difficulty in accounting for J. Olliff of England by 6-3, 6-3, 6-0.

"Bunny" Austin, Britain's main hope, was presented with little opposition. Playing against J. S. Comery, a young Birmingham player, he won by 6-1, 6-1, 6-3.

MIXED DOUBLES SURPRISE

The biggest upset in the mixed doubles was the defeat of Kho Sin-kie (China) and Miss Kay Stammers (England) at the hands of Anderson (America) and Miss Jarvis (England).

The Anglo-Chinese pair lost because Miss Stammers could give her partner little support. She did not appear to exert herself unduly in the first set, but she improved in the second when she sparked occasionally at the net in characteristic fashion. In the third set, Miss Stammers was again weak, losing her services and often hitting out.

Anderson's deadly service was the main factor in the final set.

The scores were 6-2, 5-7, 6-7.

The holders, Don Budge and Miss Alice Marble (America), got through to the next round, beating Puncic (Yugoslavia) and Mrs. Hopman (Australia) 7-5, 6-1.

Another surprise was the defeat of the fourth "seeded" pair, Mitic and Madame Mathieu, who fell to Russell and Miss Freda James by 6-4, 6-4.

In the second round, Hughan of Holland and Miss Gem Hoaching of China defeated Ian Collins and Lady Rowallan of Scotland by 6-2, 7-5.

Miss Hoaching gave a fine all-round display and was so accurate at the Trans-Ocean.

Yesterday's Wimbledon Results

The following were the principal results at Wimbledon yesterday:

MEN'S SINGLES (THIRD ROUND)

Ronald Shnayes (England) beat G. E. Godsell (England) 2-0, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.
Roderick Menzel (Czechoslovakia) beat C. M. Jones (England) 0-3, 6-4, 4-6, 8-10, 7-5.
H. W. Austin (England) beat J. S. Comery (England) 0-1, 6-1, 6-3.

FORTH ROUND

Max Ellmer (Switzerland) beat D. Mitic (Yugoslavia) 3-0, 6-2, 7-5, 1-6, 6-2.
Puncic (Yugoslavia) beat J. Olliff (England) 6-3, 6-3, 6-0.

WOMEN'S SINGLES (THIRD ROUND)

Mrs. Helene Miller (South Africa) beat Miss Knight (England) 6-0, 6-2.
Madame Sperling (Denmark) beat Miss Thelma Coyne (Australia) 6-4, 6-2.
Mrs. Sarah Fabyan (America) beat Miss Southwell (England) 6-1, 6-0.
Miss Nancy Wynne (Australia) beat Fraulein Kraus (Germany) 6-3, 7-5.
Mrs. Helen Wills Moody (America) beat Mrs. Glover (England) 6-4, 7-5.
Miss Dorothy Bundy (America) beat Miss Jean Saunders (England) 6-4, 6-2.

MEN'S DOUBLES (SECOND ROUND)

Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon (France) beat Kho Sin-kie (China) and G. S. Lyttleton Rogers (Ireland) 6-2, 16-14, 2-0, 3-0, 6-2.
H. Henkel and G. von Metzka (Germany) beat J. Ritchie and Sharpe (England) 6-0, 6-4, 6-6.
Hovell and Sherwood (England) beat Abe (Japan) and K.C. Gardner Dower (England) 10-8, 21-10, 6-0.

MIXED DOUBLES (SECOND ROUND)

O. Anderson (America) and Miss Jarvis (England) beat Kho Sin-kie (China) and Miss Kay Stammers (England) 6-2, 5-7, 9-7.
H. W. Austin and Miss Mary Hardwick (England) beat C. B. Meredith and Miss Kirk (England) 6-4, 4-0, 6-4.

Russell (Argentina) and Miss Freda James (England) beat D. Mitic (Yugoslavia) and Madame Mathieu (France) 6-4, 6-4.
Hughan (Holland) and Miss Gem Hoaching (China) beat Ian Collins and Lady Rowallan (Scotland) 6-2, 6-5.

THIRD ROUND

Don Budge and Miss Alice Marble (America) beat Puncic (Yugoslavia) and Mrs. Hopman (Australia) 7-5, 6-1.

net that her opponents made every effort to steer the balls wide of her.

MRS. MOODY EXTENDED

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody was extended in third round of the women's singles by Mrs. Glover, of England. Mrs. Glover is more well-known as Miss Nancy Lyle, the former Wightman Cup star. She gave Mrs. Moody a hard game before losing by 6-4, 7-5. Driving deeply, she led 4-1 in the first set, but then the American found her touch and scored with clever drop shots and cross-court winners. Mrs. Moody was always leading in the second set although it was not until the twelfth game that she was able to clinch the match.

Another American entry, Miss Dorothy Bundy, was successful in this round. She defeated Miss Jean Saunders by 6-4, 6-2.

MEN'S DOUBLES

Those two French veterans, Jean Bonatti and Jacques Brugnon (France), beat Kho Sin-kie (China) and G. S. Lyttleton Rogers (Ireland) by 6-2, 16-14, 2-0, 3-0, 6-2.

It was a very fierce struggle. Kho was brilliant, serving with great power and winning several games to love. His network was also grand, his smashing also being magnificent.

His Irish partner, however, was erratic.

The combination was not so good yesterday.

There was a marathon game between Hovell and Sherwood (England) and Abe (Japan) and K. C. Gardner Dower. Hovell and Sherwood won the first set after 18 games and the second after 40! This took too much out of their older opponents and they won the third set to love.

Soviets To Play Czechs At Soccer

Prague, June 24.—It is announced that arrangements have been made to hold an international football match between Soviet Russia and Czechoslovakia as part of the programme of the tenth Sokol congress in the first half of July.

A delegation of the Soviet Russian sports organization, Fischt, is expected to arrive in Prague this week.

The Soviet Russian football team will be the guests of the Czech Football Federation. If the match takes place as announced it will be the first appearance of Soviet Russian sportsmen in Europe—Trans-Ocean.

FINE FORM FIGURES

Gussie Raegener, above, and Virginia Wolfenden practice in San Francisco for an eastern invasion. Pretty Miss Raegener, a southpaw, is called the Eleanor Holm of tennis. She is a former national girls' hard court champion and holds the Canadian and Washington state crowns. These girls will add to the attractiveness of eastern competition. They have all-court games, and it would not surprise California observers if one or both followed in the footsteps of illustrious predecessors from the golden slope—May Sutton Bundy, Mary K. Browne, Helen Wills, Helen Hull Jacobs, Alice Marble, and some more. The sun-kissed shore certainly turns them out.

Filby Follows Lead Of Perry Volleyed Austin To A Surprise Defeat

By Stanley N. Doust

THIS defeat of H. W. Austin, No. 4 in world ranking and No. 1 in Britain, by Eric J. Filby, jointly ranked No. 12 in Britain, was the big surprise at the Surrey lawn tennis championships at Surbiton recently.

The match was in the semi-final of the men's singles, and Austin was beaten 6-6, 6-6.

The other sensation of the day came when Mrs. Moody lost the first set since she has been in England this season to Miss M. Scriven, who, however, eventually lost by 7-5, 3-6.

Filby, as I have so often pointed out, is more likely to become a champion than any of the young generation that the L.T.A. prefer to him. The fact that he has lost matches that he should have won no doubt influences the selectors. In their choice, yet no player of his age—he is only 21—could have beaten Austin in the same decisive manner.

Filby won by going in to the net as soon and as fast as he could. Not even Austin's immaculate length could keep him away, and if he was passed now and then, he never funkied going in again. And how he volleyed!

CRISP VOLLEYS

Anything on his forehand was volleyed as crisply and as unanswered as by Perry in his prime. Filby served well and overhead he was immense. He had won the first set and led 5-2 in the second. Then he faded away somewhat and Austin, fighting his hardest, lessened the lead to 4-5. Then Filby came back to the attack to win the next game and match.

Mrs. Moody belied her reputation of being slow on the court. Against Miss Scriven, her keen anticipation was allied to some very necessary quick footwork, and she escaped only by being continually on her toes. A proof of Peggy's fine play.

Mrs. Moody won by superior tactics. She attacked Miss Scriven's backhand persistently, and then drove to the open court, though it was not so easy as that. She had still to beat Miss Scriven's indomitable spirit. Peggy defended strongly with her backhand, ran miles, and whenever a chance came along to use

ENGLAND RECOVERS WELL IN SECOND TEST MATCH

DOUBLE CENTURY FOR WALTER HAMMOND

London, June 24. England has again made an excellent start. In the second test, which opened before a capacity crowd of 31,000 at Lords to-day, Hammond played a real captain's innings by a consistent display after three wickets were down cheaply, taking the score to five for 409 at stumps. Of this total, Hammond had contributed 210, and was still undefeated.

After a dull dawn with heavy threatening skies the sun broke out at 8 a.m., giving promise of a torrid midsummer day. The pitch was in perfect condition and full of runs.

Hundreds of people had already formed queues at that hour, having waited since dawn for the opening of the gates at 9.30.

Australia replaced Ward by Chipperfield, and of England's selected 13, Hammond dropped Shafiq, with Hardstaff as 12th. The teams accordingly were:

ENGLAND

W. R. Hammond (Gloucester), Captain. K. Barnes (Essex). C. J. Barnett (Gloucester). H. Verity (Yorkshire).

L. Hutton (Yorkshire). L. E. G. Ames (Kent). D. V. P. Wright (Kent). A. W. Wellard (Somerset). D. Compton (Middlesex). W. J. Edrich (Middlesex). E. Paynter (Lancashire).

The luck of the toss again favoured Hammond and he sent in Barnett and Hutton to open before a crowd of about 20,000. Barnett was quickly off the mark and in the first over sent McCormick past square leg for two and three, but Hutton was up by a fast yorker and then failed to time the next accurately. McCabe, at the other end, started with a wide and McCormick was not bowled twice in the first two overs.

Early Disaster

Only 12 had been scored before the opening partnership was broken, Hutton sending an easy catch to Brown at short square leg off McCormick. He played a defensive stroke to a ball which got up nastily and was out for four.

Edrich followed but did not score, for after Barnett had sent McCabe to the off boundary from the back of his foot and scored four singles, Edrich played on to McCormick while attempting to hook a short one.

Hammond filled the vacancy and showed his usual confidence, and Barnett looked safe, although he occasionally appeared uncertain against McCormick. Eventually he made Hutton's mistake of trying to hook a short one and cocked up a dolly catch to Brown at short square leg, and three were down for 31. Barnett had made 18.

McCormick at this stage had taken three for 15.

The crowd had increased considerably by this time, and when 31,000 were estimated to have packed themselves into the ground, the gates were closed.

Hammond was exceptionally confident and twice in one over sent Fleetwood-Smith to the on boundary beautifully. The over cost the slow man 10.

Hammond brought up the 50 in 80 minutes through Fleetwood-Smith misfielding at fine leg and a boundary was debited to O'Reilly. McCormick was still persisting with his short pitched balls but Hammond was too wily to be caught like Hutton and Barnett, and brought up his half century in 70 minutes by a shot to the leg boundary off the fast Victorian.

Patient Paynter

Paynter, who was Hammond's partner, was playing a very watchful game. He took an hour to reach 17 and then hooked Fleetwood-Smith for a six. In the same over Hammond drove him to the off for two and brought up the 100 in 90 minutes.

The King paid a surprise visit to the ground during the interval and was presented to the players in front of the pavilion by Earl Baldwin.

When the match was resumed the batsmen again showed their superiority. Paynter hooked a no-ball from O'Reilly to the boundary to bring up his 50 in 115 minutes, and soon afterwards the pair created a new fourth wicket record for games against Australia, passing the 151 registered by Fry and Jackson in 1905.

The wicket, which had sweated earlier, was now playing true, and Hammond completed a masterly century, compiled in 145 minutes. It was his 10th century this season and his third in succession.

Both Hammond and Paynter were driving and cutting grandly and Fleetwood-Smith was heavily punished as he was sending down frequent full tosses which were smashed to the boundary.

Out for 99

Paynter, however, laboured into the nineties and then tragically, when at 99, put his leg in front of a straight one from O'Reilly, and was given out. The wicket fell at 253. Paynter had batted for 185 minutes and hit a six and 13 fours.

Inspired by Paynter's dismissal, O'Reilly struck a beautiful length and varied his pace so successfully that he soon gained another victim, also leg before, in Compton, who attempted a big leg hit. Compton, whose wicket fell at 271, made only six.

Ames joined his captain and the pair plied out time until tea was taken at five for 203, Hammond being 139 and Ames four.

McCormick and Fleetwood-Smith bore the brunt of the bowling. Ames put McCormick through the slips to the fence twice in one over and then remained at 18 while Hammond added 20, mostly in singles. O'Reilly then took a turn with the ball and had seven men on the leg side.

In attempting to stop a fierce drive from Hammond, Chipperfield, who was bowling, buried his left hand and retired. Waite taking his place as a substitute.

An examination revealed that Chipperfield had broken the top joint of one of his fingers. It is doubtful if he will play further in the match.

Hammond made a brilliant drive to deep mid-off to bring up his 200, gathered in 305 minutes and including 25 fours.

O'Reilly, who had done much of the bowling towards the close, was bowling like hero, but was badly supported at the other end.

When stumps were drawn with five down for 409, Hammond had scored 210 and Ames had 50 alongside his name, Hammond had scored 26 boundaries and Ames five.

NEW CLARION CALL TO THE JEWS

The Secret of Happiness, By Rabbi David Miller. Published by the Jewish Sabbath Alliance of America, Inc., 202 East Franklin Street, New York City. Sent on wheels, postage paid, for 10 cents in International Postal Money Order.

The persecution of the Jewish people in Germany and Austria has been the cause of an awakening of the Jewish faith amongst Jews of all nationalities. Many who were scarcely aware that they were of Hebrew origin suddenly have realized the danger of the spread of anti-Semitic propaganda and as a result of the consequent sense of insecurity as to their future, have begun wholeheartedly to return to the ancient faith of their fathers.

In the United States, there has been a systematic effort to combat Nazi propaganda by a serious attempt on the part of the leaders of Jewry to revive Judaism and particularly the observance of the Sabbath, through both the medium of the press and the spoken word. One of the latest books devoted to this purpose is the "Secret of Happiness" by Rabbi David Miller. It is as he claims, "a prescription of how to enjoy life" and contains a digest of the leading writers and philosophers on the subject of happiness and how to obtain it. The gist of the work is that happiness is only obtainable for the Jew through observance of the doctrines of Moses and the prophets, and above all in the keeping of the Sabbath Day (Saturday).

The main purpose of the book is therefore to sound a clarion call to those Jews who have become indifferent, back-sliding from the fold so to speak, and to "strengthen the faith of modern Jewish youth in their sacred inheritance, that they might be proud of their religion and their race, and especially to offset the anti-Semitic efforts to belittle Jewish accomplishment, Jewish philosophy and teachings."

The work makes interesting reading to even the non-Jew, for he can better appreciate the splendid idealism and lofty morality of a people who have given the world Jesus of Nazareth and some of the greatest prophets of antiquity.

KING AND QUEEN
GO TO SCOTLAND
FOR FUNERAL

London, June 24
The funeral of the Countess of Cleverton, Mother of Queen Elizabeth, will be held on Monday. Their Majesties are leaving London for Scotland to attend the funeral.

Though middle-aged, she is beautiful and vigorous, and she is now demanding that the police should grant her a safe conduct to John General Credito, who was recently stated to be leading a revolutionary movement.

Declaring that she is a thorough rebel in sentiment, she says that she has served with distinction in several battles with the rank of captain of the petticoat soldiers during revolutionary times.
